

Patient Identification Safety

Hospital Knowledge Base Assistant — Reference Document

Two Identifiers

Use the hospital-approved patient identifiers before medication administration, procedures, specimen collection, and other safety-critical activities.

Wristbands

Use identification wristbands or approved alternatives according to hospital policy.

Unidentified Patients

Emergency patients without reliable identification should receive an approved temporary identifier until identity can be confirmed.

Verification

When in doubt, pause the process and verify identity through the appropriate clinical or administrative channel.
